Dear Minister Downey:

The Justices of the Peace Appointments Advisory Committee is pleased to present to you the fourteenth report on its activity since it was established pursuant to the amendments to the Justices of the Peace Act in 2007.

This report is for the period of April 1, 2021 to March 31, 2022. Please note that this time span covers two of our advertising and interview periods – the latter part of the process commenced in December of 2021 and completed in August of 2021, and the beginning of the 2022 process commenced in January 2022.

This report covers all significant matters related to the operation of the committee and classification of candidates for appointment as justices of the peace in the Ontario Court of Justice.

Respectfully yours,

[Original signed by Michael Ras]

CHAIR'S SUMMARY

I am pleased to report on the 2021-2022 activities of the Justices of the Peace Appointments Advisory Committee (the "Committee"). During the reporting period the Committee continued to refine its processes, as it has transitioned to virtual operation in the previous year and ensured amendments to the Justices of the Peace Act, that came into force on August 14, 2020, were fully incorporated into the process.

During the 2021-2022, the application intake process continued to be fully digital, and the Committee conducted all meetings via videoconference. This made the process more accessible to candidates and substantially reduced the administrative burden placed on them to submit their applications.

On December 21, 2021, the Committee received a letter from the Attorney General with a request to begin advertising to fill 42 base court justice of the peace vacancies in every region of the province. The Committee received an additional letter from the Attorney General on January 26, 2022, advising of one more vacancy, and a subsequent letter on March 24, 2022, advising of two additional vacancies, which brought the total number to 45 vacancies.

This annual report reflects committee's activities up to March 31, 2022, which included advertisement of vacancies. Classification of candidates took place in the subsequent fiscal year and a report of those activities will be captured in the 2022-2023 report.

I would like to thank the Committee and supporting Ministry of the Attorney General staff for their diligent work in seeking candidates and reviewing the qualifications of hundreds of applicants for the important role of justice of the peace. Your commitment to the efficient and effective functioning of Ontario's justice system is crucial work and your efforts are appreciated.

INTRODUCTION

Establishment of the Justices of the Peace Appointments Advisory Committee and its Mandate

The Justices of the Peace Appointments Advisory Committee (the “Committee”) was established in 2007 following amendments to the Justices of the Peace Act, R.S.O. 1990, C. J.4. On August 14, 2020, further amendments to the Justice of the Peace Act came into force that changed the Committee’s composition and manner of operating.

The Committee is an independent agency of the Ministry of the Attorney General whose duties are to classify candidates for appointment as justices of the peace, report those classifications to the Attorney General and provide advice to the Attorney General respecting the process for appointing justices of the peace in accordance with the Act. Justices of the peace are appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council on the recommendation of the Attorney General. An excerpt of the Justices of the Peace Act is attached as Appendix A.

What is the Role of a Justice of the Peace?

A justice of the peace in Ontario is a judicial officer appointed pursuant to the Justices of the Peace Act. This Act affirms that a justice of the peace has judicial jurisdiction throughout Ontario and creates a framework under which justices of the peace are appointed and hold office, and also provides for the conditions under which they perform their duties.

During this reporting period, there were 345 justices of the peace in Ontario that were assigned to judicial responsibilities. The Ontario Court of Justice, one of Ontario’s two trial courts, is comprised of both provincially appointed judges and justices of the peace.

The judicial functions, powers and duties of a justice of the peace are set out in legislation and case law. The two central legislative Acts which confer jurisdiction upon a justice of the peace are the Criminal Code and the Ontario Provincial Offences Act, but there are many federal and provincial statutes and regulations that empower justices of the peace with legal authority and/or jurisdiction. Primarily, the two main areas of jurisdiction are criminal law and regulatory law (provincial offences).

Respecting criminal law, justices of the peace preside over virtually all judicial interim release (bail) hearings in the province and the majority of criminal remand courts. They also preside over other criminal hearings. They receive Informations (the document which commences a criminal proceeding), confirm or consider the issuance of process by either a summons or a warrant and are responsible for receiving and considering the denial or issuance of search warrants and other matters of criminal process.

Justices of the peace exercise jurisdiction over the majority of provincial regulatory offences and municipal by-law prosecutions. As in criminal proceedings, justices of the peace receive Informations and warrant applications, consider the issuance of process and preside at hearings and trials.

On appointment, a justice of the peace must cease other employment and refrain from any political activity. The Justices of the Peace Act states that a justice of the peace shall not engage in any other remunerative work without the approval of the Justices of the Peace Review Council. Justices of the peace must retire upon attaining the age of 65 years but may continue in office until attaining the age of 75 years, subject to the annual approval of the Chief Justice of the Ontario Court of Justice.¹

The Justices of the Peace Appointments Advisory Committee

The Committee is composed of three core members as follows:

1. A judge of the Ontario Court of Justice, or a justice of the peace, appointed by the Chief Justice of the Ontario Court of Justice.
2. A justice of the peace appointed by the Chief Justice of the Ontario Court of Justice who is either the Senior Indigenous Justice of the Peace or another justice of the peace familiar with Indigenous issues or, when the justice of the peace so appointed is not available to act as a member of the Committee, another justice of the peace familiar with Indigenous issues who is designated by the Chief Justice of the Ontario Court of Justice.
3. One person appointed by the Attorney General.

In addition to the core members, the Committee includes the following regional members in respect of its functions in a particular region:

1. The regional senior justice of the peace for the region or, when he or she is not available to act as a member of the Committee, another justice of the peace from the same region who is designated by the regional senior judge.
2. Up to three persons appointed by the Attorney General.
3. A licensee within the meaning of the Law Society Act in the region appointed by the Attorney General from a list of three names submitted to the Attorney General by the Law Society of Ontario.

In addition to the core committee and regional members, the Attorney General appointed one member in each region to act as the regional lead during the term of their appointment. The role of the regional lead was to coordinate the screening, interviewing, checking of references and the classification process for justice of the peace candidates within their region.

¹ On June 2, 2008, the Ontario Superior Court of Justice in Assn. of Justices of the Peace of Ontario, Brenna Brown, Moreland Lynn and Meena Nadkarni, Applicants v. Attorney General of Ontario [2008] O.J. No. 2131, the Court ruled that every justice of the peace shall retire upon attaining the age of 65 years.

The full complement of the Committee is 38 members.

Since 2008, the core and regional leads have conducted regular meetings, to review ongoing Committee business and confer matters related to its policies and procedures.

In response to restrictions imposed during the COVID-19 pandemic, the Committee transitioned its operation to digital and virtual environment. In 2021-2022, all Committee meetings and interviews have been held by videoconference.

A short biography of each of the committee members is provided in Appendix B.

THE COMMITTEE'S PROCESS

Under a vacancy-based application process, the Committee continued to refine its practices. The Committee made further revisions to its application form, policies and procedures, and selection criteria. All of these documents are available to the public through the Ontario Courts website at www.ontariocourts.ca/ocj/jpaac. The copies of the Committee's Policies and Procedures, and Qualifications and Selection Criteria are attached as Appendix C and Appendix D respectively.

From its inception in 2007 to March 31, 2022, the Committee has reviewed a total of 2,168 resumes that were on file with the Ministry prior to the original amendment to the Justices of the Peace Act establishing the Committee. In addition, since the development of the application form by the Committee, the total number of applications received has reached 19,890.

During the reporting period covered by this annual report (April 1, 2021 to March 31, 2022), 924 applications were received by the Committee.

Activities

January 2022 Advertisement

On December 21, 2021, the Committee received a letter from the Attorney General with a request to begin advertising to fill 42 base court justice of the peace vacancies in every region of the province. Accordingly, the Committee advertised for applications, and the posting became available on January 11, 2022. The Committee received another letter from the Attorney General on January 26, 2022, advising of one additional vacancy in an additional court location. On February 1, 2022, the Committee amended the posting to include this additional court location.

On March 24, 2022, the Committee received a subsequent letter from the Attorney General advising of two additional vacancies, within the same court locations, bringing the total number of vacancies to 45. The posting closed on March 28, 2022. The reach out to public was conducted through various platforms.

The Committee continued to use online and primarily non-paid methods of communications for advertising and outreach. The Committee promoted the justice of the peace vacancies through cost neutral avenues, including social media, website postings and direct outreach to various organizations and associations. Along with the methods described above, the Committee also notified the individuals who had previously subscribed to the vacancy notifications on Committee's website. This outreach resulted in Committee attracting a large and diverse field of candidates in a cost-effective manner.
